MARCH 2008

Greetings fellow modelers,

March madness is almost here! The March meeting is fast approaching and we will be having another great meeting planned. You know the time and you know the place, The Burbank VFW 'The Ship', this Saturday March 1st 2008. Donuts and Coffee on the house, sort of. We do have a tip container next to the Donuts, for all of those members that did not know what that little container with a couple of Quarters and dimes is for. Per Mr. Ken Schwartz the yearly dues are due, and March is the deadline. If you wish to become a yearly member or just a month-to-month member March will be the cut-off date.

Carson Van Osten will present this Months demo, this will be a great demo for all those that have been asking about different types of groundwork techniques. The following is a brief explanation by Carson himself: “ I will show the steps and materials I use to paint real dirt with primer, earth-tone acrylics, how to attach static grass, tall grass, shrubs, and leaves, etc. I'll talk about design (composition and color) tips that can add realism and I'll also bring copies of a diagram that I did for Historical Miniature Magazine that members can take home.” So there you have it folks, this is another do not miss event.

The raffle table is in the house! You know where to go if you want to see a real deal raffle table, we will have some very good up to date kits along with some of the other goodies that you have all become accustomed to.

The Wolf will also be in the lair, and I am sure that he will be as spunky and witty as always's. Wolfie has been lagging in the word of the month dept. and I do believe that he owes us some words, so I thought that maybe Wolfie should give us more than just a word, and maybe a phrase or something. We will discuss this issue on Saturday.

I have some exciting news to show you regarding the new and Improved website, and I may even have a sample page to show you just what has been brewing behind the scenes.

SCAHMS is coming! The California show is just around the corner, March 21st & 22nd. I hope that everyone will be in attendance supporting our fellow modelers from the OC.
